IS HOT PLACE

Ten years of records at the United States Weather Bureau located at the Greenland ranch in Death Valley, California, indicate that spot is the hottest in the United States. The average of maximum temperature reported there since 1911 has been 125 degrees F. During the months of June, July and August the temperature reaches 100 degrees almost daily, when the average temperature for the month was 107 degrees. The highest temperature recorded was on July 10, 1913, when a record of 134 degrees was made. This is believed to be the highest natural air temperature ever recorded. Combined with the high temperatures is a very low precipitation of less than two inches annually. Death Valley is from two to eight miles wide and about 100 miles long, located between two mountain ranges. It is nearly all below sea level, the lowest point being 337 feet below sea level. The land is made arable by irrigation.
